INSURANCE 101

WHAT IS HEALTH INSURANCE?

Health insurance can be very confusing, but it is important! Insurance protects you from unexpected expenses related to healthcare so you can stay healthy and focus on your studies. Many students have private insurance or may be eligible to stay on a parent or family member's plan until age 26, which may have out-of-pocket costs. Other students may be eligible for government-funded health insurance plans like Medicaid (Apple Health in Washington). Regardless of your insurance status, the Husky Health Center team is here to help you! This guide answers common questions about health insurance and how to use it while you are a student at the University of Washington.

INSURANCE TERMS

In-network provider: A health care provider, clinic or facility that has a contract with your health insurance company. You will pay less out-of-pocket when you visit an in-network provider. Also known as “contracted provider.”

Out-of-network provider: A health care provider, clinic, or facility that does not have a contract with your health insurance company. You will likely pay much more out-of-pocket when you visit an out-of-network provider and will be required to pay for otherwise covered preventive services (i.e., birth control, vaccines).

Deductible: The amount of money you pay out-of-pocket over a designated period of time as you receive services (i.e., one academic quarter, one year) before your insurance begins to cover the cost of services.

Coinsurance: The percentage of the cost of your care that your insurance requires that you pay. For example, your insurance might cover 90% of the cost, leaving you to pay the remaining 10%. You usually do not pay coinsurance at the time of your appointment, but receive a bill later.

Copay: A flat fee that you are charged at the time of service (i.e., doctor’s appointment, picking up medication at a pharmacy). For example, you may have a $20 monthly copay for certain types of medications.

Preventive care: A group of services that your insurance covers at 100% when you visit any in-network provider. This usually includes annual check-ups, most birth control methods and many vaccines, including the flu vaccine.

TYPES OF INSURANCE AVAILABLE FROM UW

The University of Washington offers two health insurance programs to eligible students: The International Student Health Insurance Plan (ISHIP) for international students (J1 and F1 student visa holders only), and the Graduate Appointee Insurance Plan (GAIP) for certain graduate student employees. Students on the ISHIP and GAIP have specific benefits at Husky Health Center, and while UW does not offer a health insurance plan for other students, chances are good that you can use the insurance you do have at Husky Health Center.

INSURANCE & HEALTH CARE CHECKLIST

- ☐ If you have health insurance, complete the Know Your Benefits worksheet (page 4) by calling your insurance company and visiting their website
- ☐ If your insurance does not provide coverage in Seattle, or you are uninsured, make arrangements (see pages 4 & 5)
- ☐ Carry your insurance card with you at all times, and take a picture of the front and back of it with your phone
- ☐ If you have ISHIP or GAIP, set up an account on the Lifewise portal (see page 7 for links) and review your insurance plan's benefit booklet
- ☐ Identify providers that are contracted with your health insurance (page 8) and document them for future reference
- ☐ If you would like a family member to have access to your medical record, complete a release of information form with any Seattle provider(s)
- ☐ If you have any ongoing medical conditions, establish care by scheduling an appointment with your chosen primary care provider and arranging for records transfer

IMPORTANT: RESIDENCY & INSURANCE

Residency for the purpose of applying for health insurance is defined differently than for UW tuition. To be considered a resident of Washington State, you must have a local address (including university housing) and intend to stay in Washington after school. If you apply for insurance as a non-resident, you will not be eligible for Medicaid (Apple Health) or government subsidies to help with the cost of private insurance.

GETTING HEALTH INSURANCE IN WASHINGTON

DOMESTIC STUDENTS

UW does not offer health insurance to most domestic students. This generally includes any US citizen, green card holder, or undocumented student who is not otherwise eligible for the ISHIP or GAIP. UW does not require domestic students to have health insurance as a condition of enrollment at the university, but it is HIGHLY RECOMMENDED.

APPLYING FOR HEALTH INSURANCE ON THE MARKETPLACE

Most students can apply for health insurance via Washington State's health insurance marketplace, Washington Health Plan Finder. Undocumented students are the only population who is not eligible to use the marketplace. Two types of insurance are available:

- > Medicaid (Apple Health) - Medicaid is a government health insurance program for eligible Washington State residents (see definition below) who are US citizens or green card holders of more than five years. You can apply any time of year for Medicaid.
- > Private Insurance - Private insurance plans on the exchange have out-of-pocket costs. Depending on your income and other factors, you may be eligible for help with these costs. Undocumented students are ineligible to apply for private insurance. Many students will be eligible to apply outside of the open enrollment period (usually November 1st - December 15th) because they have moved or lost health insurance in the last 60 days, which qualifies them for a special enrollment period.

HOW TO APPLY

Call the health insurance navigators at Public Health-Seattle & King County to apply at 800.756.5437 about a week before you arrive in Seattle (if relevant) or before your existing health insurance ends, using a local address (residence hall is fine) and estimate of your current income. You will need to choose an insurance plan at the end of the application (see page 8). If you need help choosing a plan, see page 7 for assistance options, such as contacting one of our insurance navigators.

STUDENTS WITHOUT COVERAGE

OUT-OF-STATE STUDENTS

Some out-of-state families and students may find that it is not affordable to get coverage in both their home state and in Washington. Many out-of-state plans will provide only emergency coverage in Washington.

UNDOCUMENTED STUDENTS

Because immigration status is a criterion for eligibility to use Washington Health Plan Finder, undocumented students have a difficult time getting insurance coverage.

Complete the Know Your Benefits worksheet (page 4) or contact our insurance navigators (206-685-1011) to learn more about your coverage.

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

SERVICES AND ACTIVITIES FEE: HOW IT WORKS

GET THE MOST OUT OF YOUR SERVICES AND ACTIVITIES FEE

The Services and Activities Fee (SAF) is a fee paid by enrolled UW Seattle students that supports a wide array of resources on campus, from recreation opportunities to the Husky Health Center. SAF helps fund the operating expenses of HHC. As such, students get a wide range of benefits while enrolled at the UW:

- > Zero out-of-pocket expense for first office visit per quarter for a medical condition or symptom. If the first visit of a quarter is not entirely covered by a student's insurance, there is no charge to that student for the visit. However, students are responsible for any additional charges related to their visit, including lab tests, x-rays, prescriptions, and supplies.
- > Exclusive access to Primary Care and Same-Day Care clinics for new patients.
- > Consultation with insurance navigators.
- > Counseling on sexually transmitted infections, contraception, and reproductive health with patient health care advocate.
- > Safer sex and harm-reduction supplies (condoms, lube, naloxone, sharps containers, fentanyl test strips)
